New tailgate policy could change, Williams explains views to Senate

by Jim Caldwell

The recent modifications in the tailgate party policy are "not absolute" and the policy is subject to further change, Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams told the Student Senate Wednesday.

The system will be re-evaluated after this weekend's football game, he said.

Williams told the senate the new tailgate party policy was created to restrict tailgate parties to a specific time limit.

Williams said the policy will be officially implemented at Saturday's Panther football game.

The policy includes elimination of kegs of beer from the designated student tailgate area.

The policy also includes a tailgate party time limitation from 10:30 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. or 15 minutes prior to the start of the game.

Williams said, "A keg suggests a long-range event," so prohibiting kegs would limit the length of time of tailgate parties.

He added that the decision to limit the time of tailgate parties in addition to the no-keg rule was not because of game attendance, excessive noise, fights or trash.

The "main reason" for the change, Williams said, is tailgate parties were becoming more than what they were originally intended to be.

Tailgate parties were originally approved by former Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin as a pre-game, halftime and after-game activity, Williams noted.

Several senators said they were concerned about a trash problem which may occur from implementation of the new policy.

The new policy allows for only packaged liquor to be consumed in the tailgate area.

Senator Ron Wesel said the amount of garbage may triple because there would be more trash created by having packaged liquor.

Wesel said the problem may become "one cup from a keg versus three or more cans of alcohol" per person.

Williams said more trash cans will be placed in the area to prevent a trash problem.

Williams said the policy will be enforced by implementing "wide-spread publicity on campus, printed statements given out at the game and monitors who will be recognizable by dress."

Williams added he does not "envision confrontation—unless a person is breaking the law."

In other business, Williams discussed his views on the proposed plus/minus grading system.

He said the system would be an incentive to students and especially affect "marginal students."

Report on grade plan to be debated

by Craig Gaumer

A report on the proposed plus/minus grading policy will be discussed Thursday by the Council on Academic Affairs.

Pat Wright, CAA chairman, said a subcommittee compiled a report on the possibility of implementing the proposed grading system at Eastern. The grading system has been under research since last April.

The subcommittee's report also points out positive and negative aspects of the proposed grading system, he added.

In addition, Wright said the subcommittee researched similar grading systems at institutions comparable to Eastern and included the results in the report.

Discussion on the proposed grading policy and the subcommittee's findings will be limited to one hour, he said.

Anyone opposed to the grading proposal will have an opportunity to respond by writing to the CAA or appearing in person at the Oct. 20 CAA meeting, he added. The discussion will also be limited to one hour.

The proposal will not be voted on at this week's meeting, Wright said.

In other business, the CAA will discuss adding Music 2562 "Introduction to Music Literature" to the general education requirement list.

Proposed revisions of Art 4790 "Art History and Criticism" will also be discussed at the meeting.

The CAA will meet 2 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

Policy change not meant to boost crowds

by Amy Zurawski

An Eastern official said Wednesday that the recent change in Eastern's tailgate policy was not a ploy to increase attendance, but was changed to keep the party's traditional meaning.

Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, said the purpose of the modifications in the tailgate policy was not to increase attendance at football games, but rather to change the parties back to traditional pre-game picnic gatherings.

However, in the Oct. 6 edition of the Daily Eastern News Williams was quoted as saying, "The main problem with tailgate parties is they continue throughout the game and the fans are not supporting the athletic event when they are at the parties."

Williams said Wednesday, "Frankly, I don't care if the people at the tailgate parties go to the game or not."

When former Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin made the original tailgate policy, he did not intend for people to stay at the tailgate parties for the entirety of the game, Williams continued.

"Tailgates are primarily a pre-game activity and the change in policy should see that they stay that way," he added.

Marvin was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Williams noted that there has been no "evidence of declining attendance at home football games although this year's Homecoming football game was not a sellout crowd."

Sports Information Director Dave Kidwell said Wednesday he hopes the modifications in the tailgate party policy will help to increase the attendance at the games.

"Hopefully, people will attend the game after the tailgate parties," Kidwell said, "and the changes will have a positive effect on the fans."

He noted that attendance at the football games has been stable since the 1978-79 season when the football teams began to improve their record.

"The attendance started to pick up when the team began to win and has stayed about the same since then," he noted.

The new tailgate regulations, which will take effect at this weekend's home football game, include the elimination of kegs of beer from the designated student tailgate area and a time limitation on tailgate parties in the designated student tailgate area.

Williams said students have a designated tailgate area which will be marked with fences and signs at this week's home football game against Northern Iowa.

"The designated student tailgate area will be toward the back of the current tailgate area," Williams said.

"This is not an attempt to keep students out of the other area, or to keep others out of the student area, but to make a distinction between the two so that students can have their tailgate parties with the students and the other way around," he added.

Williams said students met with Marvin when the tailgating area was being discussed and asked for a specific area for students to have their parties.

"The distinction was primarily made so students could have their parties with other students around," he added.

Student marshals will patrol the tailgate area at Saturday's game. Signs will be posted and flyers distributed to people at the game informing them of the new rules.

"The student marshals will use persuasion to get the people to comply to the new rules, not confrontation," Williams said.

He added that kegs of beer are no longer being allowed in the tailgate area because of the time that it takes to consume them.

Campaign hopes to aid car sales

ROCKFORD (AP)—Area residents must help themselves and Chrysler Corp. by mounting a massive letter-writing campaign to urge the continuance of foreign car import quotas, company and United Auto Workers officials said Wednesday.

They warned that thousands of Americans would suffer economic harm if the voluntary Japanese restrictions were eased or changed to benefit competing U.S. automakers.

Chrysler has said it has delayed a $600 million plan to build a new small car pending the governments decision on whether General Motors Corp. may import small cars from Japan.

The move could eliminate 4,200 at the Belvidere plant and affect an additional 16,000 jobs at 29 parts suppliers, company officials said.

Israel may shuffle top positions

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israel's frantic pre-devaluation buying spree died down Wednesday, but the finance minister was reported under pressure to resign for his handling of the economic crisis.

Israel radio, television and several newspapers said senior members of the governing Likud bloc were working with top bankers to dump Yoram Aridor in favor of Ezer Weizman, the popular former defense minister.

Negotiators refuse federal help

CHICAGO (AP)—Negotiators for both sides in the Chicago teachers strike have refused offers of federal mediation to help break a 10-day impasse in contract talks centering around a salary dispute, a federal official said Wednesday.

Daniel O'Leary, district director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said Chicago Teachers Union President Robert Healey replied, "Thanks, but no thanks," when offered mediation services prior to the Oct. 3 strike.

Japanese official fined for bribery

TOKYO (AP)—Former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, one of Japan's most powerful politicians, was sentenced to a four-year prison term Wednesday for taking bribes from Lockheed Aircraft Corp. But he defiantly rejected demands he resign from Parliament.

The Tokyo District Court said Tanaka, during his 1972-74 tenure as prime minister, accepted 500 million yen to promote the sales of the U.S. firms passenger planes in Japan.

The court found him guilty of bribery and foreign exchange violations and fined him the equivalent of the bribes, worth $2.1 million at current exchange rates.

Tanaka quickly repealed the verdict and released on bail.

Tanaka, 65, heads the largest faction in governing Liberal Democratic Party and is immensely popular in his home district of Niigata Prefecture, which has re-elected him several times.

Tanaka returned to his Tokyo estate after appealing the ruling and posting bail of 100 million yen, equivalent to $425,000, an additional 200 million yen bail he posted when he was arrested in 1976.

Gemayel plans to hold meeting

BEIRUT (AP)—President Amin Gemayel on Wednesday scheduled a "national reconciliation conference" for Oct. 20, but factional violence raged on. Moslem-Communist fighting left 47 dead and 70 wounded in Tripoli and six soldiers were wounded in a Druse attack on the town of Souk el-Gharb.

Although Gemayel set a date for the reconciliation conference, he did not announce a site for the meeting—the major obstacle to holding it. However, he said a preliminary committee should begin working Thursday to set an agenda for the conference.

Meanwhile, there was another break in cease-fire, with six Lebanese soldiers wounded two seriously, in the Druse attack on Souk el-Gharb. The town is in the Chouf Mountains overlooking Beirut airport, where the Maronite Corps commandant, Gen. Paul X. Kelley, was with U.S. Marine peacekeepers Wednesday.

A Lebanese army spokesman said the army returned fire after its positions were attacked with mortars, small arms and rocket-propelled grenades from surrounding Druse-controlled positions.

Plane crash under investigation

PINCKNEYVILLE, IL (AP)—Flight and cockpit voice recorders were recovered Wednesday from widely scattered wreckage of a twin-engine Air Illinois commuter plane that crashed in a muddy field, killing all 10 people aboard.

Roger L. Street, president of the Carbondale-based company, said the recorders were being sent to Washington D.C. by the National Transportation Safety Board and he hopes they will shed light on the cause of the crash Tuesday night.

Street said it was not known if the accident was weather related although there was a thunderstorm in the area at the time.

Among the dead were two top-ranked administrators of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. The dead were taken to SIU's school of mortuary science at Carbondale.

'Party Patrol' discussed

by Vicki Vass

Plans for possibly implementing a "party patrol" program were discussed at the Off-Campus Student Housing Association meeting Wednesday.

OCSHA Secretary Vicki Boysen said if a party patrol is implemented a student would be stationed in a designated office from approximately 10 p.m. to 3 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights.

If a complaint about a party is received, the police station would contact the office.

Boysen said the person stationed at the office would go to the party and give the hosts a warning.

The party patrol would be similar to the programs at Northern Illinois University and Illinois State University, Boysen said.

"Northern has people stationed from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. and they average 10 to 15 calls a night," Boysen said. ISU has had its program in effect for three years, she added.

"On the first complaint, the students (patrollers) warn the party. On the second (complaint), the student and police go together," Boysen said. "On the third complaint, the police take it into their hands."

However, Boysen said, the program's goal is "to help so students don't get in trouble."

Boysen, who said OCSHA is studying the party patrol plan with the Student Senate Student Awareness Committee, also said if the program is approved, it would probably be implemented during the spring semester.

CDAP work continues

by Kevin McDermott

Charleston is entering "the most difficult phase" of the city's downtown rehabilitation project, Finance Commissioner John Beusch said Tuesday.

Beusch spoke to members of The Charleston Citizens Advisory Board, the Charleston city council and business representatives during a special forum Tuesday to discuss the progress of the work done through the Community Development Assistance Program grant.

Beusch is the commissioner of the newly-formed department of community and economic development which was created to administer the $563,149 CDAP grant.

The city is still advertising for a rehabilitation coordinator to head the department, Beusch said. The department will be fully staffed by the middle of November.

The grant is "just a beginning of our desire to foster economic development in Charleston," he said.

During the meeting, presentations were made by representatives of Fanning and Howey Associates, the company responsible for improvements on Charleston's municipal building; Teska and Associates, in charge of the streetscaping to be done in the downtown area; and Dearborn and Associates; in charge of street facade-design standards.

During the presentations, the representatives outlined the basic ways their individual companies would use the grant money to improve the physical and economic aspect of the city.

Grant Consultant Fredi Schmutte also spoke at the meeting to explain how the grant is being activated in Charleston.

"We are approaching revitalization from the inside out," she said. By revitalizing the downtown-area homes and businesses, the city would improve its overall economic foundation.

Schmutte also outlined the basic qualifications homeowners would have to meet to receive financial assistance.

Career day features businesses; many areas to be represented

by Kim Weiss

Students who are wondering about what career opportunities will be available after they graduate will have a chance to find out at Thursday's Career Day.

Career Day, sponsored by Eastern's placement center and three business honoraries Delta Sigma Pi, Phi Gamma Nu and Phi Beta Lambda, will feature representatives from 41 businesses.

Placement Center Director Don Schafer said one of the primary purposes of Career Day is "to acquaint students with various organizations."

Career Day will also give students a chance to talk with representatives to confirm career goals or discover a new field that might be appealing, he said.

The organizations will set up tables in the Union Ballroom for representatives to hand out pamphlets and talk with interested students. Several companies will also present audio-visual displays.

Junior Tim Winters of Delta Sigma

Pi said representatives from branches of the military, government agencies and business firms will be prepared to answer questions about specific jobs or general questions pertaining to a firm.

Schafer said even if a student's major is not directly related to the firms present at Career Day, he may find exciting aspects of a company he never knew existed.

"Many students think that they possess only a few skills but after examining several aspects of different companies, maybe they will realize they actually have a lot more to offer a company," he added.

Senior Barb King from Phi Gamma Nu said, "It (Career Day) might give the students an idea of what employers are looking for when hiring; It might give students an idea of qualities to look for in an employer."

Winters said many of the representatives will be accepting resumes from students interested in working for a firm.

Charleston, IL 61920

Dear Gov. Jim Thompson,
We, the citizens and students of Charleston, would like to thank you from the bottom of our hearts for doing such a marvelous job of solving Illinois' prison overcrowding crisis. We're more than happy to assist you in solving this nasty prison problem by accepting a prison work-release facility into our humble town. We thank you and the Department of Corrections for presenting us with this gift that our mayor says we can't return. And we thank you for giving us the opportunity to get personally acquainted with some of Illinois' finer prisoners.

Charleston has always opened its arms to welcome thousands of students here every year, and students and residents alike can take pride in opening those arms once again to provide a needed home for 50 prisoners who have six to nine months of their sentence left. We hope we can make their last few months of confinement as free and homey as possible. Your Department of Corrections couldn't have picked a homier place than Bob Hickman Ford's old garage. We can't think of any other place in town that is more secure than that old rusty garage.

But please, Big Jim, don't take our word on that. We'd like to show you our appreciation for locating the facility in Charleston by inviting you and Jayne and darling little Samantha to spend a free weekend in the garage with the prisoners when they arrive (all expenses paid, of course).

Being the concerned state leader that you are, we're sure you'll feel the need to check out the facility yourself to make sure it's good enough for the prisoners and safe enough for us. The garage was also a good choice because it's in an ideal location—near a high school, a junior high and an elementary school. The proximity of the schools and prison facility will allow our Charleston students to gain an education about prison life. They may get to like it so much that they will learn to grow up and be bad themselves.

Of course, those students may not get to see too much of the prisoners because they are supposed to leave the garage early in the morning to go to work cleaning up our area parks. Charleston should have the cleanest parks in the state once the prisoners arrive in January, but walking our dogs without being mugged could become a problem.

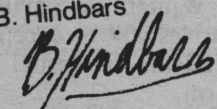

However, with the prisoners out and about in Charleston, our unsolved murder rate, which is currently 100 percent, could be decreased because we'd know just who to suspect. But Charleston's higher education students should also be given the opportunity to get to know the prisoners. Eastern students could, in order to make the prisoners feel at home, invite the prisoners over for dinner at one of the residence hall food services. After all, bread and water is a prisoner's favorite meal, right Jim?

Eastern students are even more excited than the rest of the community about the prisoners' arrival because Charleston police will really have their hands full and they won't have time to stop students from partying.

In addition, if the prisoners come to town, Eastern administrators will probably want to designate a prisoner tailgate area for them so they can cheer our Panthers on too. As you can see governor, the benefits to housing these criminals are overwhelming and we are just dying to have them here.

Once again, we'd like to thank you and your corrections department for doing such a jimdandy job of correcting the prison overcrowding problem.

Sincerely,
B. Hindbars

Spokesman for Charleston residents

Your turn

Devilish proposal

Editor:

Thank you for another hard-hitting award-winning editorial. You are right. We need a new name. A name that would strike fear into the hearts of opposing teams.

How about Satan's Death Squad. Imagine, if you can, the terror possessing a football player as he lines up against grim-faced men in black uniforms, with death's head emblazoned upon their helmets.

O'Brien Stadium could be painted red and renamed Hell. Skulls and crossbones would fly high above the arena as the band plays "The Death March."

Enemy teams would be stricken to the very marrow of their bones with unbounded horror.

Or, if Satan's Death Squad is a bit too "dull, boring and overused," how about The Masters of Glorious Death?

And while we're at it, let's get our geography straight. "Eastern" is misleading, and connotes dreams of a quaint little school in Boston. This is a school of hard knocks in Upper East-Central Illinois, and let's not forget it.

Since "change is a characteristic of society," why not change the "dull, boring and overused" name of The Daily Eastern News?

"Nights" would be a much more appropriate name for the paper, since it brings to mind a feeling of peaceful slumber, which is a common response to your editorials.

With world events escalating toward a possible war, Ronald Reagan destroying the educational system in this country and Ron Tarvin trying to exorcise Charleston of the "liquor god," please give us an editorial that is less "dull, boring and overused," (to overuse a dull, boring cliché).

Use class syllabus file

Editor:

I am writing this letter to encourage all students to use the class syllabus library when pre-registering for next spring's classes.

The class syllabus file, which is located at the reserve desk in Booth Library, can be used by anyone.

The file gives students the opportunity to check the different instructors' class requirements and outlines before signing up for the class.

Library officials say the file is used often during the add-drop period, and also encourage students to take advantage of the file during pre-registration this month.

Defaulters must honor commitment to ISSC

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission is in the process of trying to collect more than $93 million in defaulted loans.

It is unfortunate that some former students take the government for granted. There are students who never have the opportunity to attend a university because they simply cannot afford it.

Many students need some type of financial assistance to help them realize their dreams. But after some students achieve their goal of a college education, they forget the financial assistance that helped them make it through.

In Illinois, more than $93.5 million is still owed by 38,987 students. However, $16.4 billion owed by 805,432 students has been repaid or is in the process of being repaid.

The Illinois default rate is 3.63 percent, slightly higher than the national average of 3.23 percent.

Students need to realize that collection procedures are as strict as the terms for getting student loans. We do not blame the ISSC for taking stronger actions to collect from loan defaulters.

The ISSC has access to several agencies that might have current addresses of loan defaulters, including the Internal Revenue Service, the Department of Labor and the Motor Vehicle Bureau.

Crossviews:

The Daily Vidette

Ultimately, a loan defaulter can be located and taken to court. Obviously, it is a good idea to repay the loans when they are due. The ISSC has made it easier by giving lower interest rates and financing the loans so students make minimal payments over several years.

The unfortunate consequences of these loan defaulters' actions is that banks may reduce the amount of money they will loan to students.

Default on a student loan also gives a person a bad name if he or she ever again needs government financial assistance.

Employed college graduates are depriving the government of a substantial amount of money that could be used to help other students who are still in school.

Students must realize that a student loan is just like any other loan. It must be repaid. Loan recipients should take into consideration that, upon graduation, they are not off the hook.

Loans are a privilege, not a right. That privilege should not be abused.

Session deals with avoiding loneliness

by Beth Kenny

Ways of fighting the feeling of loneliness were discussed at a mini-workshop sponsored by Eastern's Counseling Center Wednesday.

Psychology instructor Randall Best compared loneliness to the sniffles at the mini-workshop, entitled, "Loneliness-Living Alone."

"If depression is the common cold of mental health, loneliness is probably the sniffles, because more people are lonely than any other thing I can think of," he said.

Best added that, "Loneliness strikes when we are least aware of what is happening, and can strike anywhere at anytime. Loneliness is actually the fear of love."

"We feel that we are not OK and fear reaching out and opening up, and this manifests itself into the feeling of loneliness," he said.

Best said he believed this attitude starts developing when children are growing up and have to face rejection from family members. "We grow up continuing to prove we are unlovable, and not reaching out, assuming we'd be rejected anyway," he said.

To end a lonely feeling, Best said, "you must make a decision you are worthwhile and lovable, and accept responsibilities for your own feelings."

"If you are lonely, you are responsible for that and if you want to change you must risk rejection and reach out to someone," he added.

Best discussed a psychotherapy technique called "stroking," which is using various methods to make someone feel good about themselves.

"We won't waste away without strokes, but if we don't get our minimum of strokes we will be lonely, depressed and unhappy," he said.

There are many ways to "stroke" a person, Best said. "Hello," "How are you," and "I like you" are examples.

Best added that there are also physical strokes such as handshakes, hugs, or a pat on the back.

He requested that members of the audience try the technique.

Best asked each member of the audience to give a stroke to the person sitting next to them and immediately people were shaking hands and introducing themselves to one another.

"If we don't get the kind of strokes

Item transfers need approval

University Board Homecoming Coordinator Susie Newkirk Thursday will request two line-item transfers be approved by the Apportionment Board, AB Chairman Gail Redeker said.

If the request is approved, the line-item transfers will cover additional expenses incurred through Homecoming events, Redeker said.

At the Sept. 29 AB meeting, video tape committee coordinator Dave Fike asked that funds be allocated to purchase new video equipment, Redeker said.

The AB meeting is scheduled at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

you want and the number you want, you should learn to ask for them," he said.

"Sometimes people ask for strokes by wearing funny clothes, every time someone stops and looks that is a stroke," he added.

Best also said people should not react with a negative attitude when someone gives them a compliment. If someone gives you a compliment on your clothing saying, "I don't believe you" or saying "this old thing" is not the right procedure, he noted.

"When you receive a verbal stroke, say it over again to yourself and wait three or four seconds and realize it feels good and then say thank you," Best said.

Best mentioned three types of activities that can help combat loneliness. "Social, kinesthetic (physical activity), attending events, imagining and creative activities."

"Loneliness is a feeling we don't have to experience; it's something we can make disappear if we think well of ourselves and take the risk in friendships," he added.

Yearbook registration to be discussed

by Carl Pugliese

A plan to implement a $2 yearbook registration fee will be discussed by the publications board Thursday, Chairman Daniel Thornburgh said recently.

David Reed, student publications adviser, said he will propose implementing the fee "to regularize distribution if the yearbook.

Marvin portrait needs funding

The Presidential Portrait Committee is currently seeking donations to create a portrait of former Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin.

Committee Chairman Daniel Thornburgh said Wednesday that the committee is in the process of raising funds and commissioning an artist to paint the portrait.

The money for the portrait will be raised "the traditional way" of "soliciting donations," he said. "All faculty and staff members have been contacted.

"Students, alumni and friends of the university" will also be asked to contribute donations, he added.

The committee is also in the process of seeking an artist to create the portrait of Marvin and "approximately 35 schools and museums have been contacted for suggestions of artists," Thornburgh said.

"Hopefully, the portrait will be done during the summer" so it can be presented at the May graduation ceremony, he said.

"We have difficulty trying to predict the number of students who would pick up a book." Implementing the plan would allow for yearbook ordering to be more accurate, he said.

In addition, the system would guarantee every student receives a yearbook, he said.

However, 200 yearbooks were left following distribution last spring, he added.

Most of the $2 fee would be used to pay labor fees to persons supervising the registration table, Reed said.

If the plan is approved, the registration table probably would be located in the Union, he said.

In other business, Reed said he will suggest the board remains with its capital development priority list.

Priorities on the list includes buying another press unit and more video display terminals for The Daily Eastern News, he said.

About $13,000 has already been spent for two new VDTs and a used typesetter for the News. The VDTs will be shipped to Eastern Oct. 17, he added.

The publications board is scheduled to meet at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union Schahrer room.

Rookie Boddicker throws three-hitter, Orioles win 4-1

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rookie Mike Boddicker pitched a three-hitter and drove in a run in only his second major league at-bat as the Baltimore Orioles evened the 1983 World Series at one game apiece Wednesday night with a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Orioles scored their first three runs in a fifth-inning surge ignited by John Lowenstein's lead-off homer and fueled by the bottom of the lineup, which until Wednesday had collected only four hits in post-season play.

Lowenstein also had a double and a single in the game.

Boddicker, a right-hander throwing a "fosh ball" — a combination forkball-changeup — allowed only an infield single by Joe Morgan in the fourth inning, a two-out single by Gary Matthews in the seventh and a bloop single by Bo Diaz in the eighth. Facing only three batters more than the minimum 27, he struck out three of the first four batters he faced and allowed only six balls to reach the outfield.

As a topper, Boddicker struck out Mike Schmidt, the Phillies' slugging third baseman, to end the game.

Boddicker walked no one — the second success night Orioles' pitchers didn't allow a free pass — and the only run he allowed was unearned, the result of an error by first baseman Eddie Murray in the fourth inning.

Baltimore's victory, on a Memorial Stadium soaked by an all-day rain, sent the two teams to Philadelphia for Friday's third game. The teams are even at 1-1 in the best-of-seven series. The Orioles will pitch left-hander Mike Flanagan, while the Phillies will go with 300-game winner Steve Carlton.

Boddicker and Philadelphia's Charles Hudson were locked in a duel of rookie pitchers, only their fifth such meeting in World Series history, when Lowenstein struck in the fifth inning.

Booters upset with travel aid for Texas trip

by Mike Lynch

Eastern's nationally-ranked soccer team will travel by van Thursday to Texas for a two-game road trip, following the denial of its bid for extra travel funds.

Eastern Athletic Director R.C. Johnson denied the team's extra $1,500 travel request last week, and Panther head coach Schellas Hyndman said Wednesday nothing had changed.

"I asked him if they're was anything I could say to change his decision and he said there wasn't, so there's really no use in talking about it," Hyndman said.

Johnson said Wednesday that the request was not so much denied, rather the additional travel funding was unavailable.

"There's no question we would like to see them fly to Texas. We'd like to see all our teams fly, but the bottom line is we don't have any reserves to draw from," Johnson said.

Hyndman said he had hoped to reallocate travel money not used when the Panthers withdrew from the Creighton Classic Sept. 30 at Omaha, Neb.

The left over travel money was intended to go toward air fares on Friday, Hyndman said. However, the Panthers still would have been $1,500 short and needed some additional athletic department aid.

Associate athletic director Ron Papp, said Wednesday he knew of no extra athletic funds available.

"I know of no way of coming up with the money unless you would take it from another sport and how fair would that be?" Papp said.

"Every year when we build our budget we intend to allocate money for a general purpose fund, but after trying to meet each coach's proposed budget there just isn't any surplus left," Papp continued.

Consequently, the Panthers will leave Thursday for a 14-hour van trip to Denton, Tex. and some Panther starters said they believe Thursday's long trip could hurt their play.

Eastern, looking to move up in the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America rankings, face tough contests against North Texas State on Saturday and Southern Methodist on Sunday.

"A big part of our season hinges on these two games and we don't want to lose," senior All-American Agyeman Prempeh said.

"If we do lose the 14 hours (of travel) is what's going to do it and not the game itself," Prempeh added.

Teammate all-American Damien Kelly agreed with Prempeh, "If we were having a bad year then they could deny us, but we're going for a championship year," he said.

"Players really don't want to concede to the fact. OK, we asked, that's it," Kelly added. "It's a shame, because I don't think we're asking for that much."

Junior split end Jerry Wright is finally brought down after a reception in the Youngstown State game. Wright has 429 yards and five touchdowns with 25 catches this year. (News photo by Sam Paisley)

Offensively, Panthers best in MCC

by Jeff Long

Despite Eastern's low-scoring 10-7 victory over Akron University Saturday, the Panthers have regained the distinction as the best offensive team statistically in the Mid-Continent Conference.

The Panthers now lead the MCC in total yards after six games, churning out an average of 363.7 yards per game, while the Bears dropped to second place with 346.4 yards per outing.

The Panthers overtook Southwest Missouri State University in the MCC's total team offense even though Eastern gained only 93 yards passing against Akron. The Bears dropped a 19-7 decision to Murray State University last weekend.

"This football team has been doing very well as far as progress is concerned," Eastern head coach Al Molde said. "Our offense has put out a pretty decent effort all season."

However, the Bears, who fell to 4-1 on the year after Saturday's loss, are still the dominant team in most of the MCC team categories.

Southwest Missouri still sports the league's stingiest defense, yielding an average of 244 yards and 10.6 points per game. But after holding Akron to seven points, the Panthers have narrowed the gap between themselves and the Bears.

The Panther defense has given up an average of 12 points per game while allowing 250.7 total yards per game.

Southwest Missouri also retains a slight edge over the Panthers in scoring offense, averaging 27.8 points per game as opposed to Eastern's 26.7 points.

In addition, the Bears continue to dominate the rushing statistics. Southwest Missouri is gaining an average of 114 yards more per game than its closest competitor, Eastern.

Southwest Missouri has been grinding out an average of 287.6 yards per game on the ground, compared to Eastern's average of 173.2.

The Bears' running game accounts for over 83 percent of their offensive output, something that Molde thinks may soon haunt the Bears.

"That's just their style of play," Molde said. "But when they run into a defense that's strong against the run, they could be in trouble."

Eastern has dominated the team passing statistics all season long, but after completing only nine passes for 93 yards under wet and rainy conditions at Akron, the Panthers have slipped to third ranking.

Individually, Kevin Staple remains the premier running back in the MCC. Staple is off to the best start of his college career, piling up 664 yards in six games for a 110.7 yards per game average.

Staple's efforts have earned him seventh place on the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division I-AA rushing leaders.

The senior tail back also has a substantial lead in all-purpose running with an average of 130 all-purpose yards per game. Kevin Williams of the Bears is a distant second with an 80 average.
